Hotels that want to live up to these new principles of healthy and ecological lifestyle have to select from an ever-growing number of green cosmetics. But with so many products on the market today claiming to be green, how can you tell which ones really are?

To clarify this, certification systems have been introduced to deliver consumer assurance. It requires some studying to figure out what each one means: eco-friendly, organic, fairly traded? ADA's 'seal guide' is the perfect tool to navigate you through the certification jungle.
